Article 5 Within three days after a prospective employee requiring a health examination enters the Republic of China (Taiwan), the employer shall arrange for the individual to undergo a health examination at a designated hospital in the Republic of China (Taiwan). The employer shall submit the results of that examination to the municipal or county department of health of the municipality or county in which the employer resides. When applying for an employment permit in accordance with these regulations, the Regulations Governing Management of the Health Examination of Employed Aliens shall apply mutatis mutandis in determining the parameters of the health certificate to be obtained before or after the prospective employee' s entry into the Republic of China (Taiwan), the items comprising the health examination, and the hospitals designated to carry out health examinations after entry into the Republic of China (Taiwan).

Article 6 An employment permit issued under these regulations shall have a one-year term of validity from the date of issuance. If it becomes necessary to extend the term of employment of a foreign employee beyond the expiration date of the employment permit, an application for extension must be submitted within one month prior to the expiration of the permit to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and must include a copy of the current employment permit, a copy of the renewed employment contract, and proof or waiver of tax payment. No extension of a term of employment may exceed one year.

Article 7 The Ministry of Foreign Affairs shall issue to each foreign attendant who is employed under these regulations a residence visa and an identification card for a foreign attendant to the head of a diplomatic mission/foreign office, which shall have a maximum term of validity of one year.

Article 8 An embassy, consulate, foreign office, international organization, and its personnel thereof shall notify the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in writing within three days to cancel the employment permit of a foreign national employed in accordance with these regulations in event of any one of the circumstances below. Those who possess an identification card for a foreign attendant to the head of a diplomatic mission/foreign office must also return the identification card.

1. The employee has been truant and out of contact for three days.

2. The employer-employee relationship has been terminated.

3. The employment term has been fulfilled.

4. The employer leaves his or her position.

Foreign nationals who have had employment permits cancelled as above must leave the country unless the Ministry of Foreign Affairs approves the transfer of their employment.

Article 9 The Ministry of Foreign Affairs may deny the application for the employment or employment extension of a foreign national by an embassy, consulate, foreign office, international organization, or its personnel thereof due to one of the following circumstances:

1. A violation of the Act or these regulations.

2. Failure to provide supplemental documents in a timely fashion after notification of the need to provide them because previously provided documents are unclear or fail to meet regulations.

3. A serious violation of another law or regulation.

4. The applicant has been denied a visa by the relevant authority and is thus prohibited from entering the country or required to leave the country within a certain time frame.

Article 10 A foreign national hired in accordance with the subparagraphs of Paragraph 1, Article 48 of the Act by an embassy, consulate, foreign office, international organization, or its personnel shall not be subject to the employment quotas in Article 3 of these regulations, to the employment permit term limit in Article 6, or to Subparagraph 2 of Article 8 of these regulations.

Article 11 When completing employment and leaving the country, a foreign national employed under these regulations shall complete the exit procedures with the relevant authority and, if in possession of an identification card for a foreign attendant to the head of a diplomatic mission/foreign office, return the identification card.

Article 12 After approving an application by an embassy, consulate, foreign office, international organization, or its personnel to employ a foreign national, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs shall send copies of the employment permit to the Ministry of Labor Affairs, National Immigration Agency, National Taxation Bureau, and other related agencies. Copies shall also be sent after the approval of applications to extend or terminate the employment of such foreign nationals.

Article 13 These regulations shall take effect upon promulgation.
